About the Conference

In the 21st century, the digital transformation has revolutionized communication, commerce, governance, and education. However, this rapid growth has also exposed users to various cyber threats such as hacking, identity theft, cyberbullying, financial frauds, and data breaches. As India becomes increasingly digitized, the need for strong legal mechanisms to deal with cybercrime becomes ever more pressing.

Cyber Law in India, primarily governed by the Information Technology Act, 2000, seeks to provide legal recognition to electronic transactions and penalize cybercrimes. Yet, with emerging technologies like Artificial Intelligence, Blockchain, and the Internet of Things, the scope and complexity of cybercrimes have grown significantly.

This national conference aims to provide a platform for Academicians, Research Scholars and students to explore, deliberate, and analyse the evolving contours of cyber law and the legal mechanisms in place to combat cybercrime in India.

Objectives of the Conference

- To understand the nature and types of cybercrimes prevalent in India.
- To evaluate the effectiveness of existing cyber laws and enforcement mechanisms.
